Seattle Pacific University Degree Options for SCCC degree programs

- Bachelor of Arts Degree in Professional Studies

SPU offers an "Upside Down" degree called Professional Studies. In this program, students complete an alternative general education curriculum and academic minor. The major they are awarded, called "Professional Studies", is essentially their course work they complete at the community college.

*This flyer does NOT include admissions requirements to the four-year university. Students are responsible for checking with the school regarding specific transfer admissions requirements.
