The Parent/Child Center, located at the SVI building, is our on-campus Parenting Education lab. Parents or caregivers can enroll in classes to help them implement developmentally appropriate practices in their daily lives. Parent spend a portion of the class time meeting with a Parent Education faculty member while their children are led by an early-childhood teacher; adults also interact with children and assist the teacher in the preschool setting.

The Parent/Child Center’s mission is to help families connect with one another, to support parenting and family development, and to share information pertaining to children and families.

Seattle Central College works with several cooperative preschools to provide parent and early childhood education for families in the Seattle area.

The preschools are very popular and provide a community of support for children and their families.

Parents gain knowledge in a variety of parenting techniques and experience in community leadership.
