

Student Complaint Advocacy Support Resources

Below are resources available to students where they can find support to help them maneuver through the campus. These are offices that students might be already engaged with and who staff can assist in helping students advocate on their behalf.

The student complaint process requires students to first communicate with the individual(s) with whom they are having a conflict to try to resolve this. This requirement sometimes feels intimidating, uneasy, or challenging, at which having someone else to walk along side with can be of great help. The following list of offices can provide the assistance needed.
