 - i. Seattle Pathways is a coordinated effort to connect students to the best educational program for their needs, strengths, and aspirations. Seattle Central College will achieve those results by giving students clear options, providing timely support and guidance, and by critical and transparent assessment of student and institutional performance. Attendant to this is the commitment to generating and sustaining an environment of wellness, belonging and well-being—all factors that are critical to student performance and success in and beyond the classroom and college.
The ultimate goal of this effort is to dismantle institutional and systemic practices that perpetuate racial and social inequity using inclusive evidence-based practices promoting equity and institutional transformation.
