Agency Description: Seattle Community Fridge is a mutual aid group whose work strives to curb food insecurity on occupied Duwamish land by providing fridges and fresh food directly to communities. Seattle Community Fridge believes that food scarcity is a myth and that all people need and deserve access to food. The group is composed of community members and operates non-hierarchically with group consensus for ideas and decision-making.

Position Descriptions:

Host outreach: Contact businesses and/or individuals about hosting a fridge location. Give details on how to run it and the process leading up to it

Volunteer coordination: Follow up with individuals that have filled out our volunteer form

Building: As-needed basis. Help with building shelters on-site for fridge locations

Social media: Monitor Facebook and Instagram accounts, respond to direct messages, post content that has already been prepared and write captions

Graphic design: Create posts for our social media and other content as needed

Food donation: Reach out to potential food donors about giving to the fridges, or transporting donated food to fridge locations

Fridge transport: As-needed basis. Help to transport fridges to or from locations--can include driving a truck, or assisting with moving the fridge

Fridge cleaning: Going to any of our fridge locations and cleaning the interior and tidying up the pantry

Days and hours students can serve in this position: Flexible on days and hours

Minimum time commitment required of volunteers: 5 hours

What qualities, abilities and skills are important to your agency?

We are looking for individuals interested in food justice and distribution, creating more equity by providing access to food, and/or any particular roles that may be relevant to the individual.

Experience is not necessary. An openness to police alternatives and the concept of mutual aid (non-hierarchical structure) are a must.
